ALL CLEWS FAIL IN PROBE OF GIRL'S DROWNING

Police Admit They are Baffled in Their Investigation

STILL WORK ON CASE

Finding of Baggage Probably Would Help to Solve Mystery—Funeral Held This Afternoon

The mystery in connection with the death of Miss Alma Hullings Jones, daughter of Mrs. Lillian F. Jones, of 330 North Payne street, whose body was found floating in the Potomac last Monday afternoon, is as yet unsolved.

The police of this city and Washington today declared they were without any new clews that would shed any additional light on the drowning of the young woman.

A black suit case found in Washington was thought to be that of the young woman. An investigation, however, disclosed it was not her suitcase, although she carried a black suit case with black lining.

Washington and Alexandria police together with the authorities of Arlington county thus far declare they were without any additional clews in the case.

Despite this they are looking for something tangible and hope to be able to unravel the case before long.

Chief of Police Goods stated this morning that he is of the opinion that Miss Jones was the victim of foul play and this opinion also is shared by other members of the department who have worked on the case.

The chief said the main question to be solved is what has become of her jewelry, money and luggage. The finding of this may solve the circumstances of her death.

The funeral of Miss Jones took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from Wheatley's mortuary chapel and was conducted by Rev. Dr. E. B. Jackson, pastor of the First Bootist Church and burial was in Bethel cemetery. Members of the American Legion of Washington served as pallbearers. Attending the obsequies were a number of relatives and friends of the young woman in addition to the members of her family. The casket was sealed.

Y. M. C. A. Convention

Alexandria Representatives Will go to Richmond Next Week

President C. C. Lamond and J. Y. Williams will represent the local Young Men's Christian Association at the annual state convention to be held at Richmond, February 16 and 17. Mr. Lamond was appointed an official delegate by the board of directors at their regular monthly meeting at the Chamber of Commerce last night.

Mr. Williams is the local member of the State Y. M. C. A. and will represent the Alexandria Association in all matters that may come before the state convention. Judge J. K. M. Norton, vice president of the Alexandria board of directors, is a member of the State Executive Committee and he too will attend the convention.

The convention will open Thursday evening with a governor's dinner at the Richmond Hotel. Governor Trinkle and President Dr Henry Louis Smith, of Washington and Lee University, will be the guests of honor. The session will continue through Friday and the program is said to be of unusual interest.

Secretary Kirk Earle Wallace will go to Richmond Wednesday evening, taking with him a large delegation of representatives of the various industries of Alexandria to attend an industrial conference which will be held Thursday, February 16, just preceding the state convention. The conference will be called to order Thursday morning at 9:30 by Homer Ferguson, of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, perhaps one of Virginia's most devoted Christian business men.

The delegates have not all been appointed as yet but the shop boys at Four Mile Run are sending L. P. Chauncey and C. T. Blunt, with W. Walter Gantt, as alternate, while the accountants office at the Potomac Yards will be represented by J. W. Varney, Chief Accountant, and H. J. Price. Delegates from the Torpedo Station will be selected today and the Southern Shops will doubtless send two or more delegates.

Deeds For Land Recorded

In the corporation court today deeds of conveyance were placed on record from Howard W. Smith, trustee, conveying to Frederick C. Goodnow 13.61 acres of land and to John H. Lloyd two tracts of land, one containing 11.5978 acres and the other containing 28.2992 acres. All of this property is what was formerly the Gray track in the northwestern half of the city.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

Washington, Feb. 10.—President Harding's unalterable opposition to use of the foreign debt as a means of paying the bonus and his notice that he would veto a bonus bill containing such a proposal has caused the Ways and Means Committe to turn to other methods of raising the money with which to pay the bonus.

While no concrete plan of taxation has yet been worked out, taxes of one-fifth of one per cent. on stock and bond transfers, slight taxes on real estate transfers, stamp taxes on bank checks, a gallon tax on gasoline and other measures are being seriously considered and estimates on the amount of money they would raise have been asked from the Treasury experts.

The Committee is now going on the theory that $350,000,000 a year will be needed to start the bonus. This is somewhat less than the amount computed by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, but much more than was computed by Chairman McCumber of the Finance Committee.

That the farm schedules as filed by the Western Tariff Bloc have been accepted by the Senate Finance Committee, with minor changes, with the exception of peanuts and rice, was stated today by Senator Gooding of Idaho, Chairman of the tariff bloc.

"We have asked for a rate of four cents a pound on peanuts and two cents a pound on rice, but we have not been able to get the approval of these rates of the Senators in all the states producing these products in large quantities and the tariff bloc recognizes the right of a Senator to represent his state in tariff matters," said Senator Gooding.

This is an interesting statement in view of the fact that Virginia stands fourth among those states producing peanuts, 138,000 acres being devoted to the culture of this food product. The emergency tariff act now in effect carries a rate of three cents a pound on shelled peanuts and 3-4 of one cent a pound on rough rice. The Democratic tariff bill gave both peanuts and rice 3-8 of a cent a pound production.

It will be interesting to observe in this connection that the South, while ordinarily against protection, will favor a protective duty upon those products in which her citizens are interested. In other words the South will be carrying out the old adage of Samuel Randall, of Pennsylvania, a Democrat, that the "tariff is not a national issue, it is not a sectional issue it is an individual issue."

If any patriotic and wealthy American happens to own a building which can be used as an Embassy in Belgium, under Secretary of State Fletcher, that country, would like to communicate with such a person.

Fletcher, who is supposed to be a millionaire by virtue of having married a rich woman, is sounding about for his future quarters in Brussels. He has had several communications from Brussels from personal friends who have told him that buildings in Belgium are as scarce as "hens teeth" Fletcher faces the inevitable of domiciling himself and his staff in a hotel in Brussels pending arrangements for securing embassy headquarters.

The old American headquarters used by Brand Whitlock the retiring ambassador are about to be sold. The United States government owns no embassy buildings in Belgium. The new ambassador Fletcher is hoping that some patriotic and well to do American citizen who has financial relations in the devastated country may come across and offer a building which will be suitable to house not only the American Ambassador and his staff but all the other officers connected with the maintenance of such a diplomatic assignment.

The report that Rodman Wanamaker, son of the famous merchant by that name, has donated a building in France to be used as embassy headquarters in that country is denied at the State department today. J. Pierpoint Morgan, Jr., who's father owned a pretentious edifice in London, donated to the United States government head quarters in which is now housed the American ambassador in London. This gift on the part of Margan was accepted under a special act of Congress and it will require such legislation before other buildings in foreign cities are turned over to the American representatives assigned to these various important diplomatic posts.

TRAINS TIED UP BY FREIGHT WRECK

A wreck of three freight cars last night on the Southern Railway's tracks near Fourteenth and Water streets, caused a complete tie-up traffic for four hours.

The buckling of three cars in a freight train, with the subsequent fall of two of the cars to the street below and the throwing of another across both outgoing and incoming rails, resulted in the delay of trains on the Southern Railway and Seaboard lines.

It was not until after midnight that trains from New Orleans, Memphis and other Southern points arrived at Union Station. While the outgoing service was less affected than the incoming, trains out of Union Station were delayed for hours. No one was injured.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Steg, of 208 North Washington street, announce the birth of a fine son at the Alexandria Hospital, Monday, February 6.

FINAL NIGHT AT BAZAAR

Biggest and Best Program Yet Shown For Get Away Night

Country Store and Auction Block Will Close Out Its Stock at a Sacrifice

It was the biggest night thus far for the week. It is estimated close to eight hundred people came and went from the Put and Take Bazaar last night at the Elks Auditorium, it seemed as if all Alexandria turned out to give the boys the big hand. The Masquerade Dance itself was anything but a success, dozens of dancers, preferred to leave their false faces at home, confetti throwing, etc., however was not overlooked.

Tonight is the last night of the Ex-Service Men's Bazaar, and will be made up of many special events to wind up the affair in a blaze of glory. Financially the Bazaar has not been a rouscing success, although some money will be realized; in every other way it has been a credit to both organizations under whose auspices it has been conducted; the many attractions free, such as Vaudeville Acts well worth seeing, and at a nominal price, only 25c has been charged nightly for the admission, along with the expenses of the crack orchestra, hall rent and many other incidentals, printing, etc., has piled up a high expense for the affair, but the boys are all glad that the public is pleased with this, their cardinal effort.

Sailor Tilton and his splendid organization of talented musicians played last night to the largest gathering of the dancing folk, young and old, that has been on hand this week. All were delighted with the wonderful music, and if last night is a harbinger of "get away" night, tonight, surely, the dancing floor should be jammed from eight o'clock on.

In addition to all this, an athletic event of note has been arranged to

FAIRFAX ROAD TO COST $500,000 NOW ASSURED

State Highway Commission Signs Agreement in Richmond

MAY START IN APRIL

Papers Presented Commission by Mayor Duncan and Capt. G. H. Evans—State to Refund Cost

The state highway commission has signed the contract for the construction of the road between Alexandria and Fairfax Courthouse, a distance of fourteen miles. The signing of this contract for Fairfax county was done in Richmond yesterday by the commission with Mayor J. M. Duncan and Capt. George H. Evans, business manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

The agreement as signed has practically been approved by the board of supervisors of Fairfax county and it is thought that it will be entirely acceptable to the supervisors of Fairfax. The proposed road will cost $500,000 and temporary notes will be issued in lieu of the bonds and Alexandria banks have agreed to handle the bonds which are to be disposed of as the money is needed and which will bear interest from date of issuance only. The state highway commission is to refund Fairfax county within a period of five years or less.

It is believed that after certain minor details are completed that the actual work of constructing the road will be commenced by April 1. A certain part of the interest charges will be paid by the city, city council having agreed to such a proposition some time ago.

News that the road will be built was received with general satisfaction by the business interests of the city generally and it is believed that it will result in a big help to the commercial interest of the city.

TRAIN VICTIM THOUGHT TO BE ATLANTA MAN

Believed to be Named Brennan Who Was Employed as Shipping Clerk

ATLANTA IS NOTIFIED

Man Stopped With Station Agent White at Burke, Va., and Told of Brother Living in Massachusetts.

The body of a man struck by a train two miles south of this city last Wednesday morning is believed to be that of Mr. Brennan, of Atlanta, Georgia, according to information received today by Undertaker Demaine and Son from Mr. White, station agent at Burke, Va.

Mr. White said a man answering the description of the man killed was at his place at the station from Sunday until Tuesday and when he left he came to Alexandria. According to Mr. White the man told him that he had been employed as a shipping clerk in Atlanta, Ga., and that he has a brother in Massachusetts. Mr. White said that he referred to his small diamond as being a sign of "better days." According to Mr. White the man also offered to pay him for several meals he had with him, but he refused to take any money.

Mr. Demaine has requested the local police to communicate with the Atlanta authorities and see if they cannot establish the identity of the man he having a suit made by Muse Tailors Atlanta, Ga.

In case the identification is completed efforts will be made by the Atlanta authorities to trace the brother of the dead man.

Mr. White told Mr. Demaine he felt confident that the dead man is the same man who was at his place and gave the name of Brennan.

Many persons seeking missing relatives and friends have called at the undertaking chapel and viewed the body.

The bill passed; vote 70 ayes; 8 noes.

DIVORCE LAWS ARE SCORED

Several Bills Presented to Committee of Legislature at Richmond Yesterday

Delegate Smith Says There is no Conflict Between Him and Alexandria Bar Association

Richmond, Virginia, Feb. 10.—Virginia divorce laws and Virginia divorce conditions were attacked and Alexandria city and Fairfax County were held up as among the worst spots in the United States in that connection by speakers who appeared yesterday afternoon before the House Committee for Courts of Justice in interest of the several divorce bills now before the General Assembly. After a hearing lasting for more than two hours, the committee referred all the bills before it to a subcommittee to report at its next meeting.

J. K. M. Norton, representing a subcommittee of the committee named by the Alexandria Bar Association to investigate conditions in that city; Mrs. Kate Waller Barrett, of Alexandria, representing the Daughters of the American Revolution; Justice F. G. Duvall, of the Civil and Police Court of Alexandria; Dr. Wilbur F. Craft, of the International Reform Bureau; Charles Henry Smith, of Alexandria, and Wilbur C. Hall, of Loudoun, patrons of the bills introduced, were among those who appeared.

The committee was told by witnesses that the number of divorces in the State is increasing and that the figures for 1921 will show more divorces than in 1920, when there were 4,000.

Delegate Smith, author of the bill providing for a divorce proctor and suspending decree of divorce for six months after decision is reached and requiring two witneses to testify to domicile and jurisdiction, said there was no conflict between him and the Alexandria Bar Association, of which

MORE UNIONISTS ARE KIDNAPPED BY RAIDERS

Captives Will be Held Until Football Players Are Released

SOME ALREADY FREED

Field Marshal Wilson to Join Ulster Party and be Indorsed for Parliament by Unionists.

Belfast, Feb. 10.—Additional kidnappings occurred yesterday in County Fermanagh, one of the counties in which Wednesday's raids were carried out. In the Rosslea district, four Class B constables were captured by the kidnappers and carried in the direction of Ballybay, where it is believed other prisoners are being kept in confinement.

Sir Dawson Bates, Ulster Home Secretary, addressed another strong remonstrance yesterday to the viceroy regarding delay in releasing the kidnapped Unionists, and demanding that they be released immediately. Sir James Craig, the Premier, also made similar representations to the British Cabinet.

Five special constables and four soldiers, all fully armed, while on their way to Enniskillen in an ambulance to bring back the men wounded at Newton Butler, were captured while passing through Monaghan. The ambulance was surrounded by a party of armed men and seized.

Major Miles, of South Donegal, one of the prisoners taken by the raiders Wednesday, returned to his home yesterday. Others from the same area are reported to have been released. Two men of Aughnacloy, County Tyrone, who were taken prisoner Wednesday by raiders, were also released yesterday. Some of those released said a number of Unionists were kidnapped and taken to Ballybay, County Monaghan, and confined in the police barracks there. Robert Jervis, one of the men released, said he saw two Orange sashes, taken in a raid, placed against a tree, riddled with bullets, then taken down and trampled under foot.

It was reported yesterday that the provisional government in South Ireland would not release any more of the captured Ulster Unionists until the Monaghan football players, arrested recently while traveling in a motor car to Londonderry for a game, and on the persons of some of whom revolvers had been found, contrary to Ulster law, had been released.

Field Marshal Sir Henry Hughes Wilson, it was announced yesterday, will join the Ulster party upon his retirement as chief of staff of the British Army. He will be unanimously indorsed tomorrow as the Unionist candidate for Parliament for North Down, it is stated.

IN CONGRESS YESTERDAY

House

Met at noon and adjourned at 4:40 p. m. until noon today.

Republican members of the ways and means committee engaged in the task of drafting the soldier bonus bill said they expected to complete their task by the end of this week.

Treasury experts were called in to estimate the probable yield from each of the various taxes under advisement.

While the tax subcommittee was at work another subcommittee began a study of the general bill to decide what changes, if any, are advisable.

Representative Periman (Republican), New York, introduced a bill proposing general increases in inheritance tax rates, designed, he said to yield $300,000,000 a year in bonus revenue.

If friendly relations with Japan are to be maintained, the United States government "must effectually stop the continued admission of Japanese and the rapid increase of Japanese population," V. S. McClathly, publisher of the Sacramento (Calif.) Bee, declared before the immigration committee.

The military affairs committee, which is holding hearings on Henry Ford's proposal, to take over the Muscle Shoals, Ala., government power plant, received word that Mr. Ford will not appear personally before the committee, but would send properly accredited representatives.

SENATE.

Met at 11 a. m. and recessed at 5:55 p. m. until 11 o'clock this morning.

The Newberry case again came before the Senate, Senator Ashurst (Democrat), Arizona, criticizing the speech delivered by Senator Pepper, of Pennsylvania, in Albany Wednesday night.

In a four-hour speech Senator Heflin (Democrat), Alabama, repeated his strictures on the Federal reserve board and attacked it as "a tool of Wall Street."

As an amendment to the independent offices appropriation bill Senator Lodge proposed that the Shipping Board be required to obtain estimates from all navy yards before letting any contracts for repair work to private companies.

The committee on rules ordered a favorable report on an important change in business methods of the Senate under which all appropriation bills, in accordance with the budget plan in the House, will be handled by the appropriations committee, provision being made for the addition of three members from other present appropriating committees when their respective measures are before the full committee.

Senator Watson (Democrat), Georgia, delivered a brief eulogy in the Senate of Miss Carolyn Upshaw, niece of Representative Upshaw (Democrat), Georgia. Miss Upshaw died of injuries received in the collapse of the Knickerbocker theater.

A blow of senatorial dignity is not soon forgotten. This was shown when in the midst of belated debate on the Newberry election case several senators rose from their seats and denounced the War Department for placing the Senate far back, as they said, in the funeral procession for the unknown soldier last Armistice Day.

TAX SOURCES FOR BONUS ARE CUT TO EIGHT

Gasoline, Automobiles, Bank Checks and Tobacco Included in List

RAISE ADMISSIONS

Assessment of Five Cents on Each Ten Dollars in Real Estate Transfers Also Named.

Washington, Feb. 10.—The field of possible soldiers' bonus taxes virtually was narrowed yesterday to eight sources by the subcommittee of the Republican members of the House Ways and Means Committee dealing with the tax problems.

These sources were stated as follows:

A gasoline consumption tax of possibly 1 cent a gallon.

A license tax on automobiles of about 25 cents per horsepower.

A stamp tax on bank checks at about 1 cent for each check.

A tax on real estate transfers at the rate of about 5 cents on each $10 involved.

Increased taxes on admissions where the sum paid exceeds 25 cents.

Increased tax on cigarettes.

Increased tax on tobacco.

Increased documentary stamp tax.

Representative Longworth, of Ohio, acting chairman of the subcommittee in the absence of Representative Fordney, said there was little sentiment for any increase either in the first-class or second-class postage rates, but added that there had been some discussion of an advanced parcel post rate.

The bonus taxes will be temporary, Mr. Longworth said, extending over a period of three years, and will be designed solely to take care of the cash payments to be made to former service men during the two and one-half years beginning January 1, 1923. It was explained that the cost of the other four options to be included in the bonus measure would be spread over 20 years and would not begin to be a serious charge against the Federal Treasury for several years at least.

Members of the subcommittee figured that on the basis of estimates furnished by Treasury experts the $350,000,000 yearly needed for three years for the cash payment could be obtained from the eight sources outlined. Exact rates in each case remain to be fixed, but the subcommittee expects to have the entire program completed by Saturday. It then will be passed upon by the majority members of the Ways and Means Committee and under present plans will be submitted in turn to Republican members of the Senate Finance Committee and to President Harding.

Graduated increases in the various kinds of documentary stamp taxes, now in force, were discussed today in the sub-committee with sentiment said to have been in favor of imposing the highest rate in the case of the transfer of capital stock and bonds. The figures suggested was one-tenth of 1 per cent. on all transfers, whether original or subsequent. The present tax is one-twentieth of 1 per cent, in the case of the original transfer and one-fiftieth of 1 per cent, on each subsequent transfer.

The suggested increase in the taxes on cigarettes is estimated to yield $25,000,000, while that on tobacco would yield an additional $5,000,000. In the case of admissions the existing rate of 10 per cent. may be doubled where the charge exceeds 25 cents.

Representative Longworth said that by spreading the taxes over eight different sources the burden would be fairly well distributed among the people and yet would not fall particularly heavy upon any one class. He thought also that this plan would result in the minimum of interference with the improvement of business conditions.

Divorce Investigation

Committee Will Not Make Final Report Tomorrow as Expected

When the committee appointed by the local bar association to investigate the alleged divorce evil in this city again meets tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock the subcommittee appointed by it to make a tabulation of every divorce case in the court files since May 1, 1920, will not be ready to make a complete report as was predicted earlier in the week. It was stated today by members of the subcommittee that they have completed a tabulation of more than 80 per cent. of the cases for the period mentioned but despite the long hours they have devoted to the task they will not be in a position to lay their complete report before the committee tomorrow. It is expected that the tabulation will have been completed by Wednesday Thursday of next week and that the final report will be made when the committee meets February 18.

Dr. William J. Morton, rector of Christ Church, is confined to his home in North Washington street, on account of sickness.

Henry Ford Uses Radio in Announcing Tractor Price Cut

The first announcement of the big cut in the price of the Fordson tractor was made thru Mr. Henry Ford's radio message Thursday evening, January 26th, from the Dearborn Radio Station to Ford dealers attending a Fordson Tractor Industrial Show in Cleveland, Ohio. The context of his talk, which was very plainly heard in Cleveland and surrounding districts, is quoted below:

"It is certainly wonderful to sit here in my office and say a few words of greeting to you Ford dealers of the Cleveland territory. The radio is an outstanding tribute to man's inventive genius. They say there is nothing new under the sun, but we are constantly inventing new things, every day bringing some big improvement over the previous day's methods.

"Manufacturing operations have undergone some wonderful revolutionary changes during the past few years —We are all familiar with the big improvements in transportation methods, but the oldest industry has been the most backward in the acceptance or adoption of the new and up-to-date methods of doing things, and that is the farming industry. Being a farmer, I am vitally interested in all farm improvements, and with this in mind, I have spent years of time and millions in money in the development of the Fordson tractor, which I really think is one of the biggest possible helps to profitable farming.

"As a general thing, the farmers have bettered their financial condition during the past 18 months, but the production costs of farm products are still too close to selling prices to allow fair margins of profit. What the farmer must do to put his business on a paying basis is to lower the most of planting, cultivating, and harvesting of his crops. This alone will increase his profits, and with this thought in mind it has been our constant aim to lower the price of the Fordson so that every farmer in the land could afford to own one. It is a pleasure, therefore, to announce thru you Ford dealers that we have today decided that the tractor price should again be reduced, and in considering a reduction, naturally my thought has been to make it possible for the largest number of farmers to share in the benefits to be derived thru the use of our tractor, and consequently effective tomorrow, January 27th, 1922, the new price of the Fordson tractor will be $395, f. o. b. Detroit. This is a cut of $230 off the present price, and while in making this big reduction we have taken upon ourselves a gigantic task in the reduction of manufacturing costs, still that task, in my opinion, is not larger than the farmer's problem of today, and I am glad to do my part in bringing about a period of increased prosperity for the farmer. Your part is to carry this message to the farmer, thereby enabling him to produce more with less cost and shorter hours.

Eastern National Forests Enlarged by New Purchases

Nearly 2,000,000 acres of land have been purchased to date in the East for National Forest purposes and more than 1,000,000 additional acres have been offered for sale to the Government, announces the National Forest Reservation Commission.

Recently the commission authorized new purchases aggregating 134,644 acres of cut-over land at an average cost of $3.33 per acre. In West Virginia the purchase of 79,178 acres averaging $2.75 per acre, was authorized. These tracts lie in Tucker, Randolph, Pendleton and Pocahontas Counties and are located upon the watersheds of the Potomac and Monongahela Rivers, the latter one of the important tributaries of the Ohio, and subject to floods which have been extremely destructive to property at Pittsburgh, Pa.

In Virginia, on the watersheds of the Potomac, James, and New Rivers, the latter a large and important head stream of the Ohio, the purchase was authorized of 28,639 acres at $2.80 per acre, situated chiefly in Highland, Shenandoah, Augusta, Rockbridge, Amherst, Botetourt, Wythe, Carroll, and Grayson Counties.

In North Carolina the purchase of 14,148 acres was authorized at an average price of $6.41 per acre, located largely in McDowell, Macon, and Madison Counties in Georgia, 1,359 acres at $5.40 per acre, in Fannin, Union, and Rabun Counties; in South Carolina, 92 acres in Oconee County at $6 per acre; in Tennessee, 570 acres at $6.28 per acre, in Greene, Unicoi, and Monroe Counties; in Arkansas, 5,086 acres at $4.07, largely in Pope, Scott, Johnson, and Polk Counties; and 5.572 acres in Winston and Lawrence Counties, Alabama, at an average price of $4.83 per acre.

As soon as purchase is completed these lands will become a part of existing National Forest, under the administration of the Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture. They will be protected from fire and a system of management applied whereby the timber resources will be used and at the same time conserved with continuous forest production, watershed protection, and coordinated development of all resources of public value.

Richmond—Nearly three quarters of a million dollars will come to the state treasury if the bill offered by Senator Woodson, of Amherst, shall become a law. The bill is that proposed by the Amherst solon for the benefit of the schools of the state and revives for state purposes the war tax of 10 per cent on the product and sales of soda fountains. The bill is now before the Senate finance committee and is being given serious consideration. Senator Woodson as a physician knows the effects of the concoctions dispensed and for that reason he would revive the tax imposed, as well as for the purpose of raising additional funds for the public schools.

Puffs, Cakes, and Waffles Better Made of Corn Meal

For making such dishes as griddle-cakes and waffles, the peculiar granular consistency of corn meal, which is a disadvantage under some circumstances, is an advantage, for it renders them very tender. The following recipes for the use of corn meal are recommended by food specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture:

Corn Meal Puffs (Without Wheat)
1 pint milk
1-3 cup corn meal,
4 tablespoons sugar,
1-2 teaspoon salt,
4 eggs,
Grated nutmeg (if desired)

Cook the milk and meal together for 15 minutes with the salt and the sugar. When cool add the eggs, well beaten. Bake in cups. Serve with stewed fruit or jam. This serves six persons.

Corn Meal Fritters

By incraesing the corn meal in the above recipe to one half cup, the batter is made stiff enough to be dropped into hot fat and fried This serves six persons.

Corn Meal Pancakes
2 cups wheat flour,
One half cup corn meal,
1 1-2 tablespoons baking powder
1 1-2 teaspoons salt
1-3 cup sugar

THE ROMANCE OF A PLAIN WASHRAG

Just a plain washrag—one of the last things on earth from which romance would be expected to evolve—but if this isn't romance, heightened by realism, then there is not any more romance in real life. The story was printed just as it reads below in a Baker, Oregon, newspaper.

Long before the war, in the days when poets had time to sit around and make words rhyme, one of the brotherhood voiced his creed that:

"In the mud and scum of things,
Always, always, something sings."

Which brings us point-blank to the subject of washrags! 'Way back in the spring days of 1918, Olive Carpenter of 3220 Firth Street, Baker, Oregon, sat in a sixth-grade room, Mrs. Grant's sixth-grade room at South Baker School, knitting a washrag for the Red Cross. When the last stitch was knit, the last pull given to get the thing into shape, Olive with a view to the Not Impossible Something that might happen in the future, wrote a letter on a little sixth-grade scrap of paper—and soon after that the washrag began its travels.

Which brings us point-blank to the subject of Sumpter, Oregon! That washrag of Olive's went first to the Sumpter branch of the Red Cross. Someone found the tag and the name and asked Olive's father, who was then at Sumpter, whether Olive Carpenter was his little girl. When he replied cheerfully that Olive was, the ladies told him that Olive's sixth-grade washrag was conducting a post-graduate instruction course, teaching the Sumpter ladies just how the Red Crass wanted washrags knit. There's a reason: Olive made a perfect washrag. Thoreau or somebody else said the world would find it out.

Which brings us to the subject of Russia! Friday morning Olive brought to the Red Cross office a letter with a post-mark that would make the T. B. M. get out his pilgrim's staff and go a-pilgriming. The magic post-mark said, "Cademario, pres Lugano, Switzerland, 2 June, 1921." The letter Olive read was this:

"When I came with my four children sometime ago at Constantinople after being deprived in Russia of all that I ever possessed I got through the American Red Cross a great number of clothes, dresses and other useful things. Between them I received your first knitting work with your nice letter. Thank you very much, dear Olive! I remembr you every time whn I use your pretty work, and I keep your letter as a remembrance of the joy you have made me. Perhaps you would like to know who is writing this letter?

"I am the wife of a Russian general. My husband, my children and I have suffered horribly during the last time we were in Russia, where my husband was in the army of General Wrangel. We saved nothing except ours and our children's life and we were in the greatest pain by hunger and cold. Now, with the help of the American Red Cross, which gave us tickets for travel, we are in the beautiful Switzerland at my sister who is married with a Swiss doctor, and I oftenly remember with the deepest thanks all the great help that the great and generous American nation has given not only to my family but also to a great deal of other Russian refugees. My children are Irene, sixteen years old; Alice, fifteen years old; Victor, eleven, and our dear little Michel, two and a half years old. They all send you their compliments. My compliments to your mother and your father and to your whole family. Yours truly, (Signed) Hilda Hoerschelmann."

And some people who went through the Great War still hold that the slogan of the strong is this: "Every man for Himself," and all the rest of it—but Olive and her sisterhood, those girls of the Junior Red Cross know better.

Find Much Work to Do

About the busiest children to be found anywhere are the girls and boys of the Junior American Red Cross. If there is any doubt in your mind, just glance through this report on the activities of school children of one Northern city where 110 schools are enrolled in the Junior Red Cross.

They have contributed to the Near-Chinese Famine Fund, the Hoover Fund of needy children in Europe, to the Chinese Famine Fund, the Hoover European Relief Fund, and the Serbian Education Fund. From one of the schools, thirty boys collected Christmas greens for the School for the Deaf. High school pupils gave an entertainment for the wounded men in a Marine Hospital. The juniors in the School for the Deaf made and sent toys to children in a school in North Carolina. The girls' sewing classes made approximately 1,000 pieces of clothing for free distribution. Another school distributed articles of clothing, vegetables and preserves to needy children. The grammar school pupils sent valentines and sweets to ex-service men in a hospital, and at Easter sent flowers and magazines to the children in the Children's Hospital. The Home Economics Department of the high school made children's dresses, which thy sold, the proceeds being used to purchase materials for the Red Cross Chapter's quota of garments for European relief. Two schools are carrying on foreign correspondence, one being paired with a school in Greece and the other exchanging letters and educational material with a school in Czecho-Slovakia.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The first sewing class for girls, of the new term, which met at the Chamber of Commerce, last Saturday afternoon, nearly swamped those in charge. 76 girls appeared for enrollment in the new class. Some of these were those of the first term and they were soon down to work in orderly fashion while the instructors under Miss Inez Rea, of Washington, organized the new comers, grading them and placing them in classes according to their ability.

Beginning work was taken up for those requiring it and the work graded all the way from this to the making of garments by some of the more advanced. Pictures were shown at the conclusion of the class which will meet at the Chamber of Commerce each Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The first gymnasium classes of the new term set at the Westminster Building Monday afternoon and evening. The girl scouts' class was held at three thirty in the afternoon and a large number of the girls were present to start the new term and also to have their class photograph taken. They will meet at this hour each Monday afternoon.

The men's class, while not large is an enthusiastic one and they started the term at 6:15 in the afternoon. The class is open to any man in the city and there is no expense connected with the attendance as the Association operates the class as a bit of community service.

The Pioneers met at 7 o'clock and they also had a class photograph taken. There was a large attendance present which enthusiastically greeted the news that an exhibition is planned for the spring. All of the boys will be asked to take part and Mr. Wallace, the instructor, will chose the best boys in the class and make a tumbling team of them.

The ladies class, under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary, began the term with a splendid attendance of both new and old members. A class photograph was also taken of this group which began the term with an earnestness that made some of them realize the following morning that they needed the work much worst than they had at first thought —that is if real soreness is an indication—and the instructor says it is.

The classes will be held at the Westminster Building for fifteen weeks, that number of lessons comprising the term. Some of the classes are practically filled now but a few additional names will be accepted in others. Inquiries will be answered at the Y. M. C. A.

HERMAN KURTZTISCH,

"When it comes to eating, working and sleeping, I'm like a different man from what I was a short time ago," said Herman Kurtztisch, 406 1-2 Norris Place, Milwaukee, with the Northwestern Life Insurance Co., in relating his experience with Tanlac.

"My whole system was about to give way as a result of two years' constant suffering from stomach trouble and I was so run down and worn out I was hardly able to work. I actually dreaded to eat, as after every meal I suffered so terribly from heartburn, and I was so nervous I got little rest day or night.

"If it hadn't been for Tanlac I'm firmly convinced I would have had to resign my place. It came to my aid in the nick of time and I am strong for it. Tanlac was worth at least fifty times what it cost me."

Tanlac is sold in Alexandria by Edgar Warfield, Jr., and leading druggists everywhere.

KU KLUX AMAZES SCORES AT RITES TO DEAD SHERIFF

Charlottesville, Va., Feb. 9.—The hundreds who gathered at Oakwood Cemetery this afternoon to witness burial of Sheriff Camm M. Thomas, victim of the Hotel fire, Richmond, stood amazed, following the Masonic ceremonies, when six white-robed members of Ku Klux Klan silently scaled a high rock wall, and forming in the figure of a cross, marched to the newly made grave, bearing a large cross of red flowers.

After placing the wreath on the grave, the clansmen gave the sign of the cross, retraced their steps, leaped over the wall and entered a closed auto which had been stripped of its license number. The machine made a quick getaway, headed toward the country.

Tonight in the armory the Virginia Orioles will attempt to take their 23rd win, by trying to turn back the Washington Orioles with the short end of the score. The Virginia Orioles have about the best junior team seen in this section for many a moon and bid fair to capture the championship of Northern Virginia and Washington.

The game tonight at the Armory begins at 7.30 P. M. and it is hoped that a large crowd will turn out to watch the local boys tackle this stiff opposition.

Defer Building This Season

The Old Dominion Boat Club will not build a new club house this season. This was detremined upon last night at a meeting of the club. The reason is owing to the present unfavorable building conditions. It is estimated that a club house as proposed would cost in the neighborhood of $12,000 or $15,000. A number of members of the committee on building together with other members of the club were averse to building at this time.

It, however, was decided to improve the present clubhouse and have everything in readiness for the coming season in the spring. The club plan an active campaign of work during the coming summer and already is considering plans for participating in the regatta of the Southern Rowing Association to be held in Richmond next July.

WOMAN'S ILLS MAKE UNHAPPY HOME

There is no question but what the ills of women consoire against domestic harmony. The husband cannot understand these troubles and the physician finds it hard to cure them: therefore the overworked wife and mother continues to drag around day in and day out with headaches and backache, fretful and nervous.

Such women should be guided by the experience of women whose letters we are continually publishing in this paper. Many of them declare that they have been restored to health, strength and consequent happiness by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after doctors and all other medicines had failed to help them. It will surely pay women who suffer from such ailments to try it.

FOR GREATER ALEXANDRIA

Hugh T. Clarkson Tells of Advantages to be Had With Fairfax Road

He Says That City Will Not Prosper If The Agricultural Districts Are Kept in The Distance

"We must build the road to Fairfax if we wish to start our journey toward Greater Alexandria rightly," declared Hugh T. Clarkson, manager of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, when asked his opinion of the proposed improvements in and around our city, He tells us more

"One might write pages on any of the dozen different subjects mentioned in The Gazette, and, yet, unless we put into practice the things that should actually be done, our time taken up on these subjects avails nothing.

"I have been much interested, not only in the different things our city is badly in need of, but it has been really instructive, the different view points expressed in connection with these different subjects. It is difficult to determine which are the most vital; after all this question is only a matter of opinion.

"Suppose, this time, we take up the question of the improved highway between Alexandria and Fairfax Court House. To my mind this is a big project, as well as a most important one. We often hear it said that no community can ever hope to progress without good roads, and I am satisfied that we will all accept this as a fact without a dissenting voice.

"Let us take a trip from Alexandria to Fairfax Court House, and on this trip observe two things only—first, the condition of the road itself; second, the appearance of the surrounding country. Having completed this trip, suppose we go over to Washington and take a trip to the same point by the way of Chain Bridge to Fairfax Court House, and observe the same two things. The difference is so marked that it is hard to believe you are in the same state; as a matter of fact, you are in the same county. Now, what is the consequence? In the first case you see very few truck gardens, or nice looking farms. The few that do exist find it more convenient to go miles out of their way to reach the Fairfax road into Washington. Consequently Washington gets the benefit of all the vegetables and different kinds of products produced in this section; and our Alexandria markets depend largely on going over to Washington and buying these products to sell to our Alexandria market. By the time the Alexandria consumers buy these products they are very costly.

"A good road from Alexandria to Fairfax would change the entire situation. If nothing more, it would do away with these products having to pass through several different markets before the consumer has finally bought them. A good road between the above points mentioned would certainly help to some extent, the high cost of living. Then too, we have good neighbors living between Alexandria and Fairfax Court House, and it should be our privilege to cultivate them, and thereby reap mutual benefit.

"If we confine our improvements to within our city walls, we may never expect to grow to any great extent. Let us all get busy and make this old historic town of Alexandria a better and happier place in which to live."

The President sent to the Senate the renomination of Maj. Robert Gray Peck to be a lieutenant colonel. When Maj. Peck's nomination was before the Senate last session it met with apposition, based upon the alleged criticism by Maj. Peck of Kansas and Missouri National Guard regiments in France and finally failed of confirmation.

Following in the wake of the armament limitation conference, a resolution to limit the State Department's remaining "armament" was reported favorably by the foreign relations committee. The resolution, introduced by Mr. Lodge, of Massachusetts, would transfer from the State Department to the National Museum the historic swords of Gens. George Washington and Andrew Jackson.

GAZETTE'S PRIZE CONTEST

Some weeks ago the Gazette announced that it would award prizes to those school children between the ages of twelve and eighteen years, who should write the best essays on the subject of the destruction of the great Egyptian library at Alexandria in the year 640 A. D. The Gazette appointed a committee consisting of Mrs. Kate Waller Barrett, Miss Helen Norris Cummings, and Mrs. George E. Warfield. Mrs. Barrett was in Richmond at the time the contest closed,and Miss Cummings and Mrs. Warfield kindly examined the essays submitted, and after due consideration awarded the ambitious young contestants the prizes as follows:—

Firse Prize, five dollars, to Miss Pauline Mason, of the Freshman class at the High School. Second Prize, three dollars, to Miss Sarah V. Nicklin, of the Sophomore Class, High School. Third Prize, two dollars,to Miss Sarah Dettor, Freshman Class, High School. The next five essays were of such uniform excellence that it was thought best by the Committee and the Gazette to award each a prize of one dollar. The names, in order of award,are as follows: Fourth prize, to Miss Esther Moore, Freshman Class, High School; fifth prize to Miss Margaret French, same class; sixth prize to Miss Eleanor G. Whitton, same class; seventh prize to Miss Eva Eugenia Weeks, Sophomore Class, High School; and eighth prize to Master Mervin Whitestone, of the Freshman Class, High School.

It is only fair to say that our High School furnished the only contestants, although the competetion was open to all the schools in the city. Neither did any member of the Junior nor Senior classes compete.

The Gazette takes occasion to compliment the young ladies and gentlemen who entered the contest, and is proud of the ability displayed in each instance. Study, like virtue, is its own reward, and the benefit to the young authors is far beyond any intrinsic compensation. The analogies drawn between Alexandria, Egypt, and Alexandria, Virginia, are interesting and instructive. The main value, however, consists in having set these youthful minds to the thoughtful consideration of the value of a public library in a community. As a pebble cast into a lake is said to affect the waves on the furthest shore, who shall say but that some time one of these embryo publicists may not exert great influence on the welfare of future generations.

The Gazette is much pleased at the interest shown, and again compliments the essayists and congratulates their worthy teachers on the fruits of their painstaking instruction.

If the successful contestants will call at the Gazette Office tomorrow the prizes will be distributed in accordance with the above list.

TRADE SCHOOLS IN POLAND

Joint Distribution Committee of Jewish Relief Committee Will Organize Scholos

In response to a strong demand for trade schools among the young Jews in Poland, the Joint Distribution Committee,, European agent of the American Jewish Relief Committee, is about to organize a network of them in Congress Poland, Galicia, Volhynia and Lithuania. Experts are making a survey to determine the exact types of schools required in the different localities, and as soon as this is completed work will be begun.

There are now a few of these institutions in Poland, maintained by cooperation between the Joint Distribution Committee, the Ort, a local society, and the ICA, which administers the legacy of Baron de Hirsch. The largest one, at Bialystok, instructs about 310 boys in carpentry, machine work and shoemaking, and classes of girls in dressmaking and similar arts. There are smaller schools in Kalish, Warsaw and Pinsk, but a recent report of the Joint Distribution Committee shows that the eager desire of the Jews to learn to work with their hands makes it imperative to enlarge this branch of the rehabilitation work.

Americans recently returned from Poland, including Mrs. Alexander Kohut, of New York, who went there for the National Council of Jewish Women, say that there is plenty of work in that country, and that the Jews want to take their part in doing it. The plans of the American Jewish Relief Committee for the expenditure of the $14,000,000 for which it is now making a national appeal include provision for the technical education of the younger members of the destitute Jewish population of Eastern Europe, which is regarded as only a little less imperative than their relief from starvation and cold

Vilna, Feb. 9.—Representatives of the Joint Distribution Committee here have been notified that the American Jewish Relief Committee has extended its support of cultural work for another six months. This means continuation of a number of Jewish schools which have been wholly or partially supported by American funds and which were planning to close with the coming of the new year, when it had been expected that American support would have been withdrawn. These schools are located in Poland as well as in Lithuania, where hundreds of thousands of Jewish children have been deprived of almost all school instruction since the beginning of the war.

For the support of these schools during the next six months, the American Jewish Relief Committee has appropriated the sum of $50,000. The appropriation is to be distributed as follows: Congress Poland $11,760; Brest-Litovsk District $3,375; Bialystok $1,740; Kovno $7,080; Vilna $4,500; East Galicia $3,375; West Galicia, $2,250; Kovno $2,250. The remaining $13,680 will be distributed proportionately among the districts after July 1st, by which time the Committee hopes that the Jewish towns in Poland and Lithuania will be able to maintain their own schools. Charitable institutions as well as schools which were destroyed or closed during the war are gradually being reopened and becoming independent of foreign air as the native Jews again become able to contribute to their support, but without this new assistance just extended many struggling Jewish schools would have passed out of existence.

Trenches dug by the German army during the war are now being used as dwellings by the Jews of Volhynia Poland, because of an acute lack of better housing accommodations.

Abraham Shoban, who served as regional director of the Joint Distribution Committee which disbursed the funds of the American Jewish Relief Committee abroad, gives the details o fthis mole like existence in a report to his directors.

"The dug-out and trenches in the towns along the River Bug, in the Luck district, along the Styr, in Sofeivka-Ignatoka, in Porick in the district of Vladimir-Volynsk are now used as homes by the impoverished populace," reports Mr. Shoban "Whole families dwell in these underground burrows. They have no choice. It is either a case of using the poor shelter that these entrenchments offer or go shelterless.

Most of them are Jews who fled or were driven from their homes in 1915 as the armies surged back and forth over this territory rendering it uninhabitable for civilians. For years the refugees wandered over Russie and they have now returned to find their towns and homes utterly destroyed. Sometimes there are a few buildings left standing, but badly battered by shells. In others there are real homes, but these are generally jammed with crowds of returning refugees. The overcrowding is terrible."

It is to relieve such situations as this that a fund of $14,000,000 is being raised in the United States. $200,000 of which will be contributed by Virginia Moe Levy, of Norfolk, is state chairman of the Virginia Relief Committee.

Famine, with its inevitable accompaniment of disease, has so decreased the numbr of physicians and so increased the need for expert medical service in the Volga district, Russia, that the Joint Distribution Committee has just made a liberal appropriation for medical work in that region Through its aid the physicians who remained in the district to minister to the sick when the general population was fleeing will be maintained to fight the epidemics which are already adding to the horror of the famine in the stricken region.

The program of the American Relief Administration, which was limited to the feeding of children, could make no provision for the doctors In the emergency the Joint Distribution Committee which disburses in Europe the funds raised by the American Jewish Relief Committee, came to the rescue and through its appropriation will assure the physicians who remain in the famine area enough food to prevent their starving while administering to the other famine vicitms.

The American Jewish Relief Committee is now engaged in raising $14,000,000 in order that the program of relief and reconstruction work of the Joint Distribution Committee may be continued and extended.

Can You See Your Ribs?

"It wasn't that I wanted to get fat—no, I just wanted to put on about 8 pounds more flesh, then I'd be just right. I've nibbled at diets, gorged big meals, I've haunted health resorts, been to fine climates, guzzled milk, buttermilk, olive oil, emulsions, swallowed pills, digestion fads, and a score of other 'won't-works'. Finally, it dawned on me. None of these things was building up the new red blood cells I needed. I took S. S. S., the greatest red-blood-cell builder, firm-flesh producer, blood-cleanser known. I put on 7 pounds in a month, and my nerves, instead of strings feel like wires. S. S. S. has the world beat."

S. S. S. is guaranteed purely vegetable in its medicinal ingredients. It has produced amazing results in building up run-down, thin-faced, ambitious men, and in making women of all ages more plump and beautiful, and younger looking. S. S. OBITUARY

Died at his residence in fairfax county, Virginia, on the morning of the 6th instant, in the 84th year of his age; Dr. James Craik, formerly Physician-Gen. to the armies of the United States.

The biographer of revolutionary merit may be allowed unusual length, in recording the life and actions of this aged patriot; who had lived so long, as to have no contempory to share his early fame—for those who trod the ensanguined field of Braddock in 1755, scarce one is left—of those who shared the early toils and friendship of our Washington, this venerable man was surely the last.

American Participation In World Cable Service

The two new cable lines by which American capital promises to intensify in 1922-3 the power of the United States to communicate with the business world abroad will bring the total of the world's submarine telegraph lines well above 300,000 miles, and the total cost to approximately $300,000,000, of which about one third is controlled by American capital.

This promise of an investment in 1922-3 of $25,000,000 for new ocean cables to give a closer business relation across the two greatest oceans of the world, is a mere continuance, says the Trade Record of the National City Bank of New York, of the disposition which American capital has always shown to aid international commerce. It was an American, Professor S. F. B. Morse, who in 1843, after a successful experiment in connecting Governor's Island with New York by a short submarine cable, made the first recorded suggestion of telegraphic communication across the Atlantic, and two Americans, Cyrus W. Field and Peter Cooper, in 1854 organized the New York, Newfoundland and London Cable Company with the purpose of linking the United States with England. The pluck and persistency of many costly experiments and apparent failures coupled with the expenditure of nearly $2,000,000, then a very large sum of money, established the first cable communication between Newfoundland and Valentina, Ireland, over which President Buchanan and Queen Victoria on August 17, 1858, communicated, by the aid of land telegraphic lines then in existence, with the historic messages, "Europe and America are united by the telegraph; glory be to God in the highest and on earth peace and good will to men."

The difficulties which American capital faced in that determined fight for close communication with the business world abroad, including the breakage and loss of the first cables laid, is further illustrated by the fact that this cable thus auspiciously opened after four years of experiment and millions of dollars expended soon lost its power of service, and within a month had become useless except for the practical lessons which its onstruction and temporary operations taught to the plucky Americans who brought it into existence. Mr. Field undaunted by its failure resumed his efforts and established relations with British capitalists and by the construction of new cables and the application of the practical lessons which had been learned in their laying and operation established in 1866 two successful cable lines between Newfoundland and Valentia, and from that time forward instantaneous communication between the United States and Europe has been continuous.

It was also American capital and energy which established the first cable line across that greatest ocean of the world, the Pacific, a far greater task than that of bridging the Atlantic by cable lines, for the distance is nearly three times as great and the difficulties intensified by reason of the fact that the bed of the Pacific between San Francisco and the Hawaiian Islands includes numerous mountain ridges many thousands of feet in height and with valleys of corresponding depth. The difficulties of this new and untried field were, however, overcome and communication established from San Francisco to Honolulu, the Midway Islands, Guam, Manila, and thence to Shanghai and Japan, the length of the entire line from San Francisco to the Asiatic coast being approximately 10,000 miles, which is now to be paralleled with a second American line, while the new line across the Atlantic is to touch the Azores and thence to Germany. American capital also has placed our various coast cities in direct connection, over American cables, with the principal islands of the Caribbean and thence the principal ports of the eastern and western frontages of South America. French and British capital have also spanned the Atlantic with numerous lines, and British, Canadian and western Canada to Australia, while European capital, chiefly British, built up the tremendous cable system connecting Europe through the Mediterranean with India and the Far East with branch lines to Australia and along the eastern and western frontages of Africa.

While the life of a submarine cable is now estimated at from 20 to 40 years, a considerable number of the experimental lines have entirely ceased operation, though the methods of operation have been so greatly improved meantime that the number of messages or words transmitted over a given line is now many times that of earlier days and thus facilities of inter-continental communication greatly intensified, and the cost of transmision correspondingly reduced.

Will Inherit Father's Estate

Miss Ethel Daisy Deane-Tanner, nineteen-year-old daughter of the movie director who took the name "William D. Taylor" and who was slain at his home in Los Angeles, will inherit her father's estate. The estate is estimated at $60,000, plus jewelry worth $2,500.

Appropriations For Agriculture in Virginia Have Been Small

A comparison of the amount of the last Assembly of Virginia appropriated for agricultural purposes with what is appropriated in other states for that purpose shows that the need of agriculture in Virginia was not realized by the men who represented this great industry in the Legislature as it has been by those in other States.

Of the total appropriation the Legislators of Tennessee set apart 6.71 per cent for agricultural departments while those in Mississippi gave agriculture 10.54 per cent of total appropriation. The Virginia Assembly in 1920 gave the aggricultural interests of this State only 5.82 per cent of the money they appropriated.

According to the 1919 figures the value of farm crops produced in Virginia was $292,821,000. On January 1, 1921, the value of domestic animals, dairy products, poultry eggs wool, bees, honey and wax was $166,738,000.00, and farm real estate, buildings and machinery were valued at $1,196,556,000.00, while the value of manufactured products less the cost of raw material was $269,769,000 00, and that of mining products was $29,363,000. Capital in manufacturing was $464,517,000.00, and that in mining $57,036,000.00.

Properly assessed in Virginia has been as follows:

Farm land and buildings, $248,709,000.00.

Town lots and buildings, $50,650,000 00.

City and buildings, $324,672,000.00

With these facts it is left for the reader to decide whether agriculture in Virginia has been getting what is justly due it.

Whether the agricultural interests of Virginia will fare any better at the hands of the Assembly now in session is yet to be seen.

Richmond—There is a pressing demand for doctors for the country districts, and in order to relieve the demands there has been made a proposition to have the state give 40 scholarships each year for several years to men and women of the state who may want to take up the study. There is just one condition—that the men and women who accept shall reside in and practice medicine in the country sections from which they come. They are to be appointed four to each congressional district, and they are to return and practice there for five years. The poor roads of the state and the necessity for the physicians to carry their children with them militate against the physicians, who prefer the city existence to life in the country.

Charlottesville—The Free Will Baptist Church in Madison was found in ashes Friday morning. The night before prayer meeting wase held in the church, and it being very cold a big fire was made in the stove, and the building is supposed to have caught fire from an overheated flue. There was no sign of danger from fire when the worshipers left about 9 o'clock. The destruction of the church is a serious setback to religious activity in that community.

No arrests were made as the place was deserted when the officers arrived.

CALOMEL GOOD BUT AWFUL TREACHEROUS

Next Dose May Salivate, Shock Liver or Attack Your Bones

You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attack the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and it if doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great No salts necessary. Give it to th children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate.

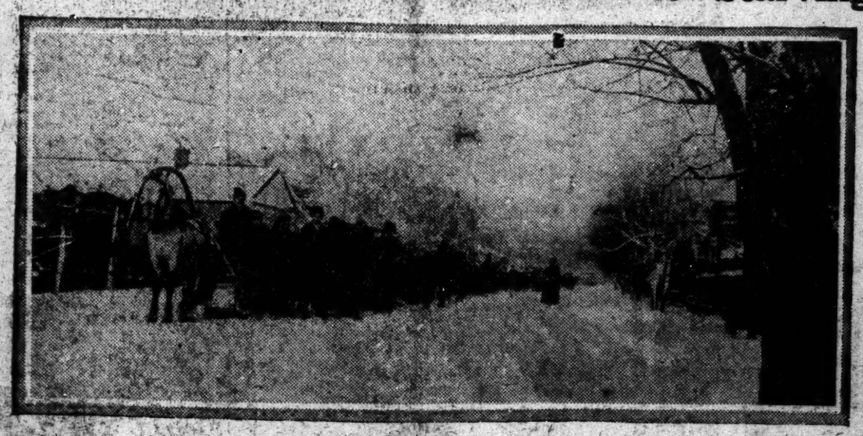
Sled Trains Are Used by American Relief Administration Workers in Russia to Deliver Food to Starving



THIS is the way American food for starving Russians is delivered in certain sections of the famine-stricken country.

The picture was taken upon the arrival of the first American Relief Administration transport at Sterleetamak, capital of the Bashkir Republic. The sled train is laden with food, drawn many miles from the nearest railroad station, to be distributed among the famished children through the ARA feeding stations established there.

Cables tell of the joyful reception which this relief party met upon arrival at Sterleetamak. The hungry inhabitants were in desperate straits, as they are pretty much throughout the Volga Valley section, and this American food was a God-send. Children flocked about the sled-loads of supplies and assisted in unloading and guarding the treasured contents, until kitchens were set up and distribution began.

The Bashkir Republic is one of the hardest hit among those which felt the heavy hand of starvation, following the great drought. The ARA lost no time in getting food to many of the remote places in this republic, sending out relief parties from Sterleetamak, which is the principal supply station in the Bashkir Republic.

The condition of the natives there continues to be serious. In many districts there is no food whatever. Substitutes, when they can be found, are used. These have been prone to induce illness in most cases. Chronic dysentery and malnutrition have weakened the children to a pitiable extent. Deaths through starvation have been common. Many, in an effort to flee the stricken section, have died by the roadside while conducting a futile search for food. Those who remained, principally because they could not find ways and means to leave, had to await the arrival of food provided through the generosity of the American people. The work of relieving the situation due to the shortage of food is being conducted by the ARA with despatch.

The delivery of many food packages, sent through the Hoover Food Remittance system by relatives and friends in America has helped the situation somewhat. Many additional adults, however, are in need of food. These remittances can be obtained by anyone in America upon application to the office of the ARA, 42 Broadway, New York. In turn, for each $10, 117 pounds of substantial food, including flour, rice, condensed milk, cooking fats, sugar and tea are sent to the stipulated person, institution or group of individuals.

Many of the younger inhabitants of the famine zone are without sufficient clothing to protect them against the biting blasts of the Russian winter. Inasmuch as no provision is made in the ARA program for this sort of relief, funds for this work must be secured through public contributions. Anyone can help this cause by sending funds to the ARA, 42 Broadway, New York City.
